U. S. WILLIAMS, ARRESTED AT SWEETZER, TAKEN TO MARION,

And Later Hurried Out of the City-Charged with Criminal Assault-Lynching Urged by Mother.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARION, Ind., July 7 .- Urged on by the appeals of a frantic mother to her neighbors to assist in mobbing the man who had ruined her child, an attempt was made today to take U. S. Williams from the hands of Sheriff Mills and Deputy Sheriff Williams when his arrest was accomplished at Sweetser, six miles west of Marion. The pleas of the mother excited the crowd and the prisoner was hurried on a run to the sheriff's buggy, which was a block from the place where the arrest was made. After placing the prisoner in a buggy the officers whipped their horse into a gallop and escaped from the town before the mob had time to take action. Abner Veach, father of the little girl who was assaulted, mounted a bicycle and rode to Marion at the side of the sheriff's buggy, pleading is $13,000, and there is also a mortgage and begging with the officers to turn the prisoner over to him. Williams was placed in the Marion jail, although he begged to be taken to a city more distant from Sweetser, as he feared mob violence.

Williams is a music teacher, and has been located at Sweetser for a year. It is alleged by Hazel Veach, aged thirteen years, daughter of Abner Veach, hardware dealer of weetser, that Williams criminally assaulted her yesterday afternoon while she was at his studio to take a music lesson, but she did not say anything to her parents until this morning. Word was sent to the sheriff, and he and his deputy hastened to Sweetser. The affair had been kept quiet pending the arrival of the sheriff, but when the officers reached the town word of their mission NOBLESVILLE.-The Noblesville Demo- passed around rapidly, and before they had made the arrest of Williams men, women after making investigation of churches in Democratic organ of Hamilton county. Joseph F. Paxton Is Reported to Have Been Seen Near Balbec, but Officers Fail to Find Him.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. PORTLAND, Ind., July 7 .- Joseph F Paxton, indicted here over twenty years ago for the murder of his wife, near Balbec, is reported to have been seen last night at the home of his brother, Mahlon Paxton, near Bluffton, Officers from there went out to the Paxton farm, but failed to find him after a diligent search, although his brother admitted he had been there. Paxton was accused of having killed his wife by smothering her with bed clothing or a pillow. Her sister lived with them and she had accused them of intimacy and it was thought this was the motive of the crime. Shortly after the inquest was held bloody clothing, identified as belonging to Mrs Paxton, was found hidden in a hollow log After the funeral of his wife Paxton disappeared. The grand jury returned an indictment and an effort was made to locate him, but without success. He was once seen in Kansas and the sheriff made a trip there, but without avail. No reward was offered at the time and the matter dropped from public attention until to-day.

TRIAL OF MRS. DRAKE. Accused Woman Is Put on the Stand in Her Own Behalf.

ecial to the Indianapolis Journal COVINGTON, Ind., July 7 .- Mrs. Drake slept little last night. She was informed yesterday that she would be placed on the stand to-day. It was then that she seemed to realize her position and became very nervous. She retired late, slept little and was up early this morning, appearing anxious for the trial to begin so that the strain would be over.

She was placed on the stand at 10 o'clock and testified that the last meal she prepared for Robert Drake was a supper consisting of hog jowls, onions, pickles, bread, waffles and coffee. Drake ate three slices of jowls, only one of which would go into the frying pan, which was large, at a tine; six onions, three inches in diameter; drank two and a half cups of coffee, ate four large slices of bre d with a large amount of butter and a number of hot waffles. After supper he read the paper until late and retired apparently feeling well. She was awakened by him about 2 o'clock. He complained of distress in the stomach and bowels and had severe attacks of vomiting, which continued during the night. He had had trouble before with his stomach Mrs. Drake was asked to describe the personal appearance of Robert Drake. She cried as she gave the description and finally broke down entirely. She said Drake worked on the farm and while at work was poisoned by ivy vines. He used suiphate of zinc as a wash to cure it. He was an habitual user of patent medicines. He had tried the home treatment of the Keeley cure for whisky. She denied the report that she at one time instituted surety of the peace proceedings against Drake. Mrs. Drake will be on the stand

The new Indiana Union Traction Company filed a five-million-dollar mortgage in the county recorder's office yesterday afternoon to the Girard Trust Company of Philadelphia. Property of the company in nearly half the counties of the State is named as security. Similar mortgages are being filed all over the State.

MUST WORK TEN HOURS.

Ultimatum of Big Four Officials to the Wabash Machinists.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WABASH, Ind., July 7 .- The twenty-five machinists employed at the shop of the Michigan division of the Big Four in this city were astonished this morning when they were confronted at the door of the shop by Master Mechanic W. J. Thomas and told that unless they were ready to work ten hours a day, with the exception of Saturdays, until further notice, they would not be permitted in the shop.

Last week notices were posted to the effect the shop would be run ten hours a before any will come out. open complaint, and went to work yesterday but instead of putting in ten hours knocked off at 5 o'clock, working the usual nine hours. They expected to go back to work this morning, but the master mechanic named conditions, and the men would not accept them. be done on the engines.

Repairs to a Big Bridge. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LAFAYETTE, Ind., July 7.-At the next meeting of the county commissioners it probable that steps will be taken to im prove the Main-street bridge over the Wahash which, it is claimed by local engineers, is unsafe. The structure, which is by far the largest and most important in the city, and over which thousands of persons pass daily, has not received much attention in late years, and the floor, especially, is in a dangerous condition. oose boards form the sidewalk and thoroughfare, and many of these are unsafe The proposition now is to asphalt the floor and build a new railing. This would strengthen the bridge and calm the fears of all. The commissioners will take the matter up in a week or two and come to some

He nounces the first word as if it were hyphensays the professional money loaner won't take any chances because the field of investment is too far away, and the condi-

There are many trop ical promoters who have put every dollar they own and every cent they could get from their friends into the scheme, and, having failed to secure money from the banks, as they expected they would be able to as soon as they made a start, have been forced to peddle their stock in every possible way in order to keep affoat. It takes a lot of money to develop a tropical planta-tion. A whole lot of money has got to go in

REASON FOR IT. The reason why the professional money loaner and the rubber man cannot get together is this: While the business of producing it may be one of great promise, it is still in an experimental state and the experienced capitalist never likes to have other men experimenting with his money. He is always friendly to anything that promises well, but the rubber men are too sanguine for him. Their claim that the industry is capable of earning enormous profits may deavor in behalf of the idea. As usual, the be all right, but these profits are not yet visible. KEEP ON SAFE SIDE.

It is always a safe rule to go slow on any get-rich-quick proposition. The official or writer who advises the public against promoters who are offering several hundred per cent. profit to investors are not enemies | is most popular, even among the antito honest enterprise. A scheme that will bring returns like these is hard to find, and doesn't have to go begging when it is discovered. A warning against such is really protection to the well meaning. CARE OF PROPERTY INTERESTS. One great drawback to tropical investments in general is the lack of adequate measure in the latter. And there is little Diaz is always firm in the administration of justice to foreign capitalists, his friendship for the American being especially an English possession, and it is very difficult for an American to get concessions officials. When it comes to putting money in the Spanish countries it is a hazardous I examined a lot of papers pertaining to some of these claims, and was particularly impressed with the outright robbery perpetrated in one instance. An American owned a good-sized plantation near the boundary line of two provinces. One day the officials swooped down upon him and confiscated his entire property-land, buildtested against the outrage and appealed to the proper authorities for redress. The reason given for the confiscation was that the boundary line had been changed, so that his estate was in another province, to which he owed taxes that had not been paid. That the whole thing was merely a scheme to rob him could be easily seen, for the reason that no legal steps whatever had been taken in the matter. This unsettled condition of government makes it an undesirable field for the investor. In most instances he will be at the mercy of unscrupulous thieves. If a concern is large enough to influence the government or strong enough to defend itself against it, like the United Fruit Company, which has nearly $15,000,000 invested in Central America and the West Indies, it will get along all right. But the conditions She Soured on Him.

The young woman urged a repetition of his visit. This he could not make, but it was finally arranged that she should visit an aunt in Kansas City at the time the President would pass through there on the return trip. Up to this time the correspondence had been carried on over the wire, briefly expressed, and the young woman subscribed herself "Sugar." Now, however,
